

From Pages to Practice

Making Ideas Actionable

Worksheets

Build

Podcast

Blog

Speaking

Social Media

Offer

Digital
Product

Membership

Online
Course

Group

Build & Offer Buffet

Key Messages

Listen to the From Pages to Practice session #1 for further details and support

List the key messages from your book. The messages that are most important and if your readers took action on, they would be able to experience or create the change your helping them to make.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Choose the top three essential key messages from the list.

Determine activities

Listen to the From Pages to Practice session #2 for further details and support

Top 3 Key Messages

A large, solid green rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the first of the top three key messages.A large, solid beige rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the activity corresponding to the first key message.A large, solid green rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the second of the top three key messages.A large, solid beige rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the activity corresponding to the second key message.A large, solid green rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the third of the top three key messages.A large, solid beige rounded rectangle with rounded corners, intended for writing the activity corresponding to the third key message.

Ask Around:

Find out what others think of your ideas

Listen to the From Pages to Practice session #2 for further details and support

Now that you have an idea for the top 3 key messages from your book and the experiences and activities you could lead to help your ideal clients implement and integrate these ideas, it's time to check and see if your ideas are appealing.

I'm thinking of creating a group program so my readers can go deeper into the concepts and get help and support in implementing these ideas.

I'm thinking the focus would be on:

It might include:

With this group, you'd have the chance to do all of this with other like minded readers. You wouldn't have to do it on your own.

What do you think?

YOU DID IT!

You've completed the From Pages to Practice: Making Ideas Actionable workshop. Your willingness to answer these questions and starting take the ideas from your book and turning them into your own group program is something to be celebrated.

The next big question, is "Now what?"

I'm going to assume that you might want some further help in crafting your group program. If that is the case consider signing up for a free Group Enrichment Session.

Together, we'll focus on what matters most to you—whether it's building on insights from the workshop, designing creative group activities based on your key messages, or refining your program's structure.

Book a Group Enrichment Session
<https://www.jjdak.com/enrichment>

If you're not quite ready for an Enrichment Session but would like to keep thinking about your own group, sign up for the complimentary Great Group Revolution Private Podcast

<https://app.helloaudio.fm/feed/441d3a0f-2a17-4328-8039-009fab06fd30/signup>

Group Program
Architect